PROFESSIONAL SERVICE:

- Pepperdine University – In Spring 2017 I served on a committee in the Religion Division to select a visiting faculty member for the 2017-2018 year.
- Pepperdine University – In Spring 2017 I served on DeWayne Winrow’s M.S. committee.

- In 2015–2016 I participated in the “Academic Leadership Development Program” organized by Pepperdine’s Provost, Rick Marrs. There were approximately eight two-hour meeting sessions.
- De Gruyter Press: In August 2015 I joined the editorial board for De Gruyter Press’s Encyclopedia of the Bible and Its Reception. I am the area editor for “Global Christianity.” This project will eventually include 30 volumes under the supervision of 37 editors. Publication began in 2009 and will last to around the year 2025. Already 8000 articles have been published, and 20,000 articles are in preparation.
- Understanding World Christianity. I am under contract with Fortress Press to serve as General Editor of a series of books on World Christianity. So far ten volumes have been contracted. In this position I serve as the first layer of editing for each book published in the series.
- De Gruyter Press – From 2014 to 2016 I served as an editor for Open Theology, a journal published by Walter de Gruyter Press.
- American Academy of Religion – Since May 2009 I have been co-chair of the “History of Christianity” section of the AAR Western Region. This responsibility includes coordinating and moderating the “History of Christianity” sessions at the annual regional conferences and selecting successful papers for presentation.
- Pepperdine University – Between 2013 and 2015 I hosted or co-hosted “Communio Dei,” a gathering of (mainly) Religion majors that took place in faculty homes. We ate supper together, prayed, and reflected on various themes.
- Pepperdine University – Since 2010 I have served as the Religion Division coordinator for Global Tides, Pepperdine’s undergraduate research journal. This involves recruiting and overseeing three editors, supervising the blind editorial process, coordinating stipends for editors and awards for winning papers, collaborating with the other division faculty mentors, and ensuring publication on the Pepperdine Digital Commons website.
- Pepperdine University – From 2012-2013 I supervised and worked closely with graduate student Nicholas Cumming. In 2013 he gained acceptance into doctoral studies at University of London’s Kings College. Nick and I co-authored a chapter on Armenian Christians in Los Angeles that was published in a book with Ashgate Publishers.
- American Society of Church History – In 2013 I served on the Program Committee which organizes the ASCH National Conference, accepts/rejects paper and session proposals, and decides on the plenaries and larger conference themes.
- Reviewer – I have served as a reviewer for several academic publishing outlets including the Journal of Religious History (2013), Rowman & Littlefield (2010), and Bloomsbury Publishing (2013, 2014).

- Pepperdine University – Since 2015 I have served on the “International Programs Committee” which assists Pepperdine’s flagship study abroad programs, including our six international campuses and Washington, D.C. campus.
- Pepperdine University – Since 2012 I have served on the “Credits Committee” which deals with course credits, student standing in their academic programs, and eligibility for re-enrollment.
- Pepperdine University – I have worked extensively with Rick Gibson’s office (Church Relations), including:
  - an event with the Religious Standards Committee called “Pepperdine and the Future of Churches of Christ.” I presented a report to this gathering that unpacked my survey and research project dealing with the state of the Churches of Christ.
  - multiple meetings with the Barna Group
  - the Youth Initiative (led by Jeff Walling)
- In November 2012 I was interviewed for a front-page Christian Chronicle article on violence in the Middle East entitled “How should Christians respond to Muslim rage?”
- Pepperdine University – I served as a co-facilitator (with Gary Mangiofico) for the 2012 Faculty Conference.
- Pepperdine University – In 2012-2013 I served as faculty mentor for the new IP faculty in Buenos Aires, Brian Newman.
- Consultant – I have interviewed for various media outlets including Fox News, NBC Nightly News, CNN, History Channel, Inside Higher Ed, InfoCatolica, and NPR.
- Pepperdine University – WASC (Western Association of Schools and Colleges) work: Since 2011 I have served on several WASC assessment committees. With Thomas Reilly and Milt Shatzer I served on the non-Western cultures assessment. With Tim Willis and Randy Chesnutt I served on the Religion Division GE program evaluation committee. I have also served on the REL 301 GE assessment committee and helped with the assessment of my REL 330 church history course.
- Pepperdine University – I have served as coordinator/chair or member of the comprehensive exam committee for the following graduate students: Corey Williams, Christopher Chesnutt, Tyson Moore, Nick Cumming, Robert Carillo, and Jenn Rogers.
- In July 2010 I gave an extensive interview with Christian Chronicle that was published online as “Dyron Daughrity on Christianity, Islam, and Africa.”
- Pepperdine University – From 2007-2010 I supervised graduate student Corey Williams. I helped him compete successfully to give presentations at two major scholarly conferences (Nigeria, Tempe Arizona). I supervised his field research project in Nigeria. He successfully defended his M.A. thesis on Christian-Islamic relations in Nigeria in 2010. In 2015 he completed doctoral studies at the University of Edinburgh's Center for the Study of World Christianity under the supervision of Afe Adogame. He is now serving as a tenure track professor in religious studies at the University of Leiden in the Netherlands.

- University of South Africa – In 2009 I served as external examiner for PhD candidate Bosela Eale on the dissertation topic: “Justice and Poverty in the D.R. Congo: A Challenge to the Church.”
- Pepperdine University – I served on the Plenary Panel for the Pepperdine Faculty Conference, “All the World’s Our Stage: Fulfilling Our Mission Through Global Outreach,” October, 2009.
- Pepperdine University – I served as “Guest Editor” in Leaven: A Journal for Christian Ministry, vol. 17, no. 3, third quarter, 2009. Theme: “Unfamiliar Voices from the Global Restoration Movement.”
